

THE JOURNAL OF INDUSTRIAL ECONOMICS

Call for Papers:

CEPR-JIE Conference on Applied Industrial Organization; London, 19-21 May 2016.

We are writing to invite you to submit a paper or to express your interest in attending the 17th CEPR-JIE Conference on Applied Industrial Organization (IO), which will take place in London, 19-21 May 2016. The event is hosted by University College London (UCL) and the Institute for Fiscal Studies (IFS) and will be organised by Gregory S. Crawford (University of Zurich and CEPR), Alessandro Gavazza (LSE and CEPR), Rachel Griffith (IFS/Manchester and CEPR), Lars Nesheim (UCL), and Tommaso Valletti (Imperial and CEPR).

Financial support for the conference is generously provided by the Journal of Industrial Economics (JIE), Amazon Economists, Charles River Associates (CRA), the Institute for Fiscal Studies, CEMMAP, Suntory and Toyota International Centres for Economics and Related Disciplines (STICERD, LSE), Compass Lexecon, Google, RBB Economic Consultants, and CEPR.

Paper submissions and deadlines:

The deadline for submissions is Friday, 29 January, 2016 18:00 (GMT). Authors will be notified about whether their paper has been accepted in March 2016.

Authors who are CEPR members can upload their submission on <http://dev3.cepr.org/accounts/login.asp?NewURL=/accounts/config/accountconfig.asp>. Authors who are not CEPR members can email their submission to Chloe Smith at csmith@cepr.org. Please indicate in your email whether you will be able to cover your own accommodation costs.

Conference details:

The Applied IO conference series seeks to contribute to the understanding of the breadth of topics analysed within the field of Industrial Organization, including demand, productivity, competition in the short- and long-run, innovation, investment, and auctions, to develop empirical protocols and tests of economic models, to promote the exchange and the dissemination of results at the forefront of research, and finally, to evaluate current competition and regulation policies. It will cover the state of the art in both applied and empirical Industrial Organization.

Keynote speeches this year will be given by:

Bruno Jullien, Toulouse School of Economics and CEPR

Jan De Loecker, Princeton University, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, NBER and CEPR

The conference will be preceded by the 13th CEPR School in Applied Industrial Organization, sponsored by Amazon Economists, which will take place on Wednesday 18 May 2016. The aim of the annual School is to provide a forum for intellectual exchanges between PhD students and more experienced researchers in the field of industrial organization. More senior researchers are invited to encourage their students to apply to the school. A separate invitation will be sent for the school in the following weeks.

THE JOURNAL OF INDUSTRIAL ECONOMICS

Please forward this call to others, especially junior faculty, who might have papers suitable for the conference.

Papers will be selected by a committee formed by the organisers and the members of the steering committee of the Applied IO Programme.
